BIO

Marta Grasso is a multi-disciplinary artist and researcher born in 1987 in Palermo, Italy. She lives and works in New York.

Her approach, both anthropological and analytical, investigates, documents and catalogues the personal and collective identities of specific territories and artifacts. Her work creates new spaces of dialogue through communal reflection that becomes the birthplace of new shared imaginaries.

The artist's practice encompasses personal autobiographical experiences and collective shared narratives; ranging between collage, performance, sculpture, photography and video.
